

JOE MULLINS & THE RADIO RAMBLERS

No matter the source, Joe Mullins and the Radio Ramblers always put their distinctive stamp on a song, making it at once their own and a part of the chain of tradition that lies at the heart of bluegrass. JMRR's professionalism and successful, heavily played recordings have kept them in demand with a national audience. Joe Mullins & the Radio Ramblers have been seen by thousands of fans across the continent through performances at a vast array of venues including the National Folk Festival, Bluegrass Underground, Bluegrass Nights at the Ryman, and regular guest appearances on the Grand Ole Opry. Mullins' is a favorite broadcaster in Bluegrass, on radio over 30 years in the Midwest. He also host's "Front Porch Fellowship," syndicated on air each week in 30 states and Canada to nearly 200 radio stations and to thousands of internet listeners.

"They are awesome!" — Pete Fisher, General Manager, Grand Ole Opry

"These guys are among the elite in the business keeping the fires lit for the original bluegrass sound." — Craig Havighurst, Music City Roots

"Joe Mullins is what could be termed a double threat in the business. Musically, he is one of the top bluegrass acts in the business along with his band, the Radio Ramblers, but he also is one of the top radio personalities in the genre. Spend any amount of time with him, and you'll be in amazement at his vocal chops -- whether singing or announcing." — Chuck Dauphin, Billboard Magazine

"Joe is a driving force in the world of bluegrass. Over the past three decades, he has devoted his life both to bluegrass performance and to disseminating great bluegrass, gospel and country music via radio. A masterful Scruggs-style banjo picker and gifted singer known for his soaring high tenor, he leads a top-notch band that can do it all, delivering impeccable instrumentals and superb harmony singing with equal ease." — National Council of Traditional Arts
